

Firstly, I'd like to remind you some things about the first one hundred pages. This is the story, the main character in which is the sixteen-year-old boy, Ethan Wate, who lives in the small southern American town, Gatlin. He leads the usual teenager life before this year. In the beginning of the last school year they have a new girl in their class, her name is Lena Duchannes. And she isn't the ordinary girl like others in Gatlin, in Jackson High School. Everyone descends her, everyone except Ethan. Because for some reasons he knew this girl long before she came in Gatlin. He protects her in school, because he wants to be close to her. But she tries to push him away, and Ethan doesn't want to give up.

So, they do become very close soon, because of the mystery that is connected, the mystery of the locket, that shows them some strange pictures from the Civil War period. These are, as it turns out, the fragments of the love story between their great-great-great relatives, Ethan and Genevieve. But this is only the first mystery, that fraternizes them.

Soon Ethan finds out about the Lena's family that is really special one, and not just because she is the niece of the town's shut-in. She is the Caster, that has to be Claimed at her sixteenth birthday for Dark or Light. And from that moment his life turns in a very different way. At least, when one of the cousins of Lena tried to kill Ethan by frosting the life inside of him, but he blacked out before that happened. And this is not the only coincidence, when the Dark Casters come in the life of Lena.

At that time she has known that she is circumvented, because her mother, unlike Ethan's, is alive and she is Cataclyst, the darkest Caster of the world. Her name is Sarafine and she wants to kill her, as they think. But thanks for these attacks Lena's family has known about Ethan's special incantations, that he, unlike any Mortal, could protect Lena. And they understand that their feelings to each other are so strong.

From this moment, they have been together, in spite of any school-predators for Lena. There was even risk of Lena's expulsion, because of all the accidents that were happening because of her growing powers, which she couldn't control, or her Dark Cousin.

But thanks for Macon Ravenwood, who was the main fear for all the town, she wasn't expelled. Finally, they has known about the curse of the Book of Moons, which had happened because of the Genevieve's will to alive her Ethan. Lena and Ethan has found this book, but all the hopes were vain. Guys even tried to break up, but finally couldn't bear without each other. And the answer is given to them by the spirit of Ethan's mother. And in that moment Ethan has known that his father that after his wife's death lived in her study, writing a book, was pretending, he just can't submit with the thought about the death of his wife. But, in fact, they even were in danger, and their nightmares were the main evidence for that.